

Every piece of information (as far as I could perceive) from the Skylark website has been classified into this chart.

Yellow bricks represent the primary categories of data.

The classification of information is as User centric as possible, hence primary sections start with Introductory Information for a better induction of the user’s web experience (Most of which is on the home page), then Company data, Services (in – depth), Customer care, Careers and finally the login(I have assumed the portal is for both employees and customers, hence i have added it separately as a primary class, if this were not so it would be added under the Customer care section).

P.S. The ‘JD’ (under full time job openings) stands for Job Description.
